Assessing the EU Readiness to Handle the Ukraine Refugees: Big Data, Movement Mapping and Migration Law Framework

Russia has invaded Ukraine on 24 February 2022. Until 15 March 2022 more than 3 million people have fled Ukraine, to the nearest border. Most of them are also looking for "online" help. In fact, Ukraine has 25.7 million active social media users counted till January 2021. Twitter as the most popular platform, briefly informed about the next migration challenges which may face by the European Union (EU). This research analyzed 7171 tweets, with the #immigration hashtag obtained 07 March 2022 by using the Social Network Analysis (SNA), performed with the NodeXL and Gephi software. The first finding, most of the public opinion are led by politicians, activist, and ordinary people to stop the war, which shaped the direction of the public administration in refugees handling. The second finding, the hashtag, such as #ukraine, #visaforukrainan, successfully influence the EU parliaments to simplify the immigration procedures, proved by 3669 users who have positive, 2360 negative, and 9 angry sentiments. The third finding, the EU treated the refugees too far by following the public interest, which potentially violated the 1951 Refugees Convention and Common European Asylum System (CEAS), for the solution, the EU will have reactivated the Temporary Protective Directive which was introduced in 1990.
